

REAL ENGLISH. DREAM JOB. TRANSCRIPT

Interviewer: What's your name?

Nona: Nona.

Interviewer: What do you do for a living?

Nona: Customer service, telecommunications.

Interviewer: Is that your dream job?

Nona: No.

Interviewer: If you had something else to do for a living what would it be?

Nona: Not working in corporate America, doing something that made a difference in the world.

Interviewer: And what do you do for a living?

Diane: I'm a registered nurse.

Interviewer: And is that your dream job?

Diane: No, I dream of flying F-16 fighter jets, that would be my dream job, to be a pilot.

Interviewer: What do you do for a living?

Jennifer: I'm a hairdresser.

Interviewer: Is that your dream job?

Jennifer: No.

Interviewer: What would your dream job be?

Jennifer: To have a restaurant, be a chef.

Interviewer: Oh, so you must be a great cook?

Jennifer: I think so.

Interviewer: And what do you do for a living?

Mike: I own a construction company.

Interviewer: And is that your dream job?

Mike: No, professional beach volleyball is my dream.

Interviewer: And what do you do?

Jeanette: I'm a project manager.

Interviewer: And is that your dream job?

Jeanette: Absolutely not, my dream job's being a full-time mom.

Interviewer: And what do you do for a living?

Tony: I work as a project manager in a software company.

Interviewer: Is that your dream job?

Tony: No, but I'm too old to be a football player.

Interviewer: And what do you do for a living?

Ninfa: I'm a lawyer.

Interviewer: Is that your dream job?

Ninfa: No.

Interviewer: What would your dream job be, if you had one?

Ninfa: Like to be an explorer. Discover other unknown Islands.

Interviewer: What do you do?

Gail: I'm a research nurse manager. I work in genetic research and I run projects for our organization.

Interviewer: Is that your dream job?

Gail: My dream job? No, not really. My dream job would be to help people live a healthy lifestyle.

Interviewer: What do you do down here?

Josh: I do sales and marketing for a company that repairs airplane parts.

Interviewer: Is that your dream job?

Josh: No.

Interviewer: What would be your dream job?

Josh: Owning a bar in a restaurant.

Interviewer: So you could drink?

Josh: Yeah, for free.

Interviewer: There you go! What do you do?

Richard: I work for a chemical company.

Interviewer: And is that your dream job?

Richard: No.

Interviewer: What would be your dream job?

Richard: Owning a hamburger joint.

Interviewer: What do you do for a living?

Ryan: I'm a park ranger.

Interviewer: Awesome.

Ryan: Yeah, yeah.

Interviewer: That sounds like a dream job.

Ryan: It is pretty cool. I really enjoy it. I really am lucky to you know have a job these days, but I also really love what I do so I'm very lucky.

Interviewer: And what do you do for a living?

Najla: I'm a veterinarian.

Interviewer: Another cool job!

Najla: Yeah, we did well. I do enjoy it.

Interviewer: Is that your dream job?

Najla: It's tough. It's close. It's close. it's a lot of, it's a lot of heart-wrenching, so it's a little hard on me but I do enjoy it. I don't think I trade it in for anything else.

Interviewer: So if you had a choice to do anything else, what would you do?

Najla: Maybe be a permanent volunteer, but I can't afford that.

Ryan: Working with wildlife.

Najla: Yeah I'm working with wildlife, rather than cats and dogs.

Interviewer: And what do you do for a living?

Sandy: I'm actually a tour guide here.

Interviewer: Really?

Sandy: Yeah. I work with a company that works with carnival ships and we take the people around. Today I'm doing a South Beach City Tour and some other days I'll do an Everglades tour and then we take them to the airport, so it's a lot of fun.

Interviewer: That sounds like a lot of fun, that sounds like a dream job.

Sandy: It is, it's pretty good. It's only a couple of days a week and it works out perfectly.

Interviewer: And what do you do?

Angelina: I'm a bartender.

Interviewer: Oh awesome! Is that your dream job?

Angelina: No I'm also entrepreneur so I have little side jobs that I do - graphic design, marketing, public relations that kind of thing.

Interviewer: And what do you do for a living?

Jesus: I'm a teacher.

Interviewer: What do you teach?

Jesus: I teach Spanish and math in an elementary school.

Interviewer: Very good. Is this your dream job?

Jesus: Yep, yep, yep.

Interviewer: Great!

Interviewer: And what do you do for a living?

Gail: I'm a journalist.

Interviewer: And is that your dream job?

Gail: It is actually.

VOCABULARY

bartender (noun) - a person who makes and serves drinks carnival (noun)- a fun event with games, rides, and food

chef (noun) - a person who cooks food in a restaurant

construction (noun) - the building of something, like houses or roads corporate (adjective) - related to large businesses or companies entrepreneur (noun) - someone who starts their own business

everglades (noun) - a large area of wetlands in Florida explorer (noun) - a person who travels to new places to learn about them fighter jets (noun) - fast military planes used in battles hairdresser (noun) - a person who cuts and styles hair lawyer (noun) - a person who helps people with legal problems nurse (noun) - a person who helps take care of sick or injured people park ranger (noun) - a person who protects parks and helps visitors pilot (noun) - a person who flies airplanes telecommunications (noun) - sending and receiving information, like talking on the phone or using the internet veterinarian (noun) - a doctor who helps animals volleyball (noun) - a sport where two teams hit a ball over a net volunteer (noun) - a person who helps others without getting paid wildlife (noun) - animals and plants that live in nature